DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because in figure 1, reference numbers 11a and 11b, the lines should be extended to point at the ROM and RAM, rather than the box labeled 11. Corrected drawing sheets are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Art Unit: 2863

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S.

Patent 6,609,054 to Wallace.

Claim 1 recites, as disclosed by Wallace:

1. A passenger detector for detecting a passenger occupying a seat of an automotive vehicle, the passenger detector comprising: a load sensor for detecting a load imposed on the seat ('054, 50); a memory for storing at least one threshold load ('054, col. 37, line 13, "ScatterCountThreshold"), the memory including a rewritable non-volatile memory ('054, 150); and means for determining occupancy or unoccupancy of the seat by comparing the load detected by the load sensor with the memorized threshold load ('054, col. 36, line 62).

Claim 2 recites, as disclosed by Wallace:

2. The passenger detector as in claim 1, wherein: data stored in the rewritable non-volatile memory are renewable by communication with an outside device ('054, fig. 2, data from calibration unit, 100, to EEPROM, 150, and col. 11, line 11).

Claim 3 recites, as disclosed by Wallace:

3. The passenger detector as in claim 2, wherein: the threshold load includes data for determining a passenger type according to his/her weight ('054, col. 36, line 62).

Claim 1 recites, as disclosed by Wallace:

4. The passenger detector as in claim 2, wherein: the threshold load includes data for determining unoccupancy of the seat ('054, col. 39, line 28).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Claims 5-6 recite, "wherein: the memory further includes a read-only-memory; the read-only-memory stores design-target threshold loads and the rewritable non-volatile memory stores adjustment loads for adjusting the design-target threshold loads; and the adjusted threshold loads, which are obtained by adjusting the design-target threshold loads with the adjustment loads, are used for determining occupancy or unoccupancy of the seat". This feature in combination with the remaining claimed structure avoids the prior art of record.

Claim 7-14 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 7-14 recite, "adjusting the threshold load stored in the memory using the detected load". This feature in combination with the remaining claimed structure avoids the prior art of record.

Although Wallace discloses calibration of sensor data, and the use of thresholds in interpreting data, adjusting thresholds using the detected load is not disclosed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
